

Eszterhas, Joe reporter
(E. Jován írta)

1970

For the first time,
the true story
of the tragedy at Kent State

13 Seconds

Confrontation at Kent State

By JOE ESZTERHAS and MICHAEL D. ROBERTS

"An authentic, contemporary horror story which reconstructs vividly every detail of the events surrounding and leading up to the tragedy that was consummated in just 13 seconds. No newspaper or magazine account that we have seen thus far has told what Eszterhas and Roberts have got across in their unnerving and unforgettablely shocking book. The scene they depict is extraordinarily human and complex." —Publishers' Weekly

JOE ESZTERHAS and MICHAEL D. ROBERTS, two young reporters, were at the scene within minutes of the tragedy. They have since spent weeks interviewing all the participants. They traveled to victims' homes and talked to relatives and friends; they spoke to National Guardsmen on the firing line and to students who were fired on. Writing without bias, they tell the whole story of what happened at Kent State, and why.

CONFRONTATION AT KENT STATE

JOE ESZTERHAS
MICHAEL D. ROBERTS

13
SECONDS

DODD, MEAD

Photographs. $7.50

1970 Nov. The New York Times Book Review