

Ny Eve Post - 1851 11/11

From Smyrna to Spezia weather was rough, many suffered, incl Mme K - when it lessened, Johna walked, high Holy for credit frame -

[Ny, Eve Post: K kissed Marseilles ben! in one of the ~~W~~ for 24 hrs]

On the 5th M made Gibraltar - Am Consul & Engl Govern rogadial - later's magnificent dinner - Lump was anxious to wait for him in Gibs, but K not permit. "I should keep you here for ab. 20 days at the expense of your Govern. Govt - expose you to a long winter passage and detain my fellow countrymen, who wish not to see, until the weather gets rough - no - but I will, to US as soon as I can"

officer, because much attached to K and when parting came - there was sob - as surgeon

Bladmall told us - a dry eye in the ship - Even the sailors loved K and long before the orders were given, the whole Company, officers & all broke into 3 as hearty cheers as ever given

Farewell - said K - but I shall see you again - Thank God on your own soil in Am - He went happy & glorious land on earth -

After 21st, M heavy weather stops at Funchal to take coal but no stay 20 months voyage of M nothing could exceed the indignation of officers when they were told of representations

"This is the most heathen lie - said one - that was ever fabricated - What?
interposed another - offender with K? He is the noblest fellows on Gods earth &

Others in a more quiet way assured us that K was always "exceedingly modest, amiable and gentlemanly and the whole party's conduct as good as anyone one sea - Poor fellows they never passed us without patting us warmly by the hand, to show how grateful - -

mixed with officers, the best the ship could get - Apt also for to R and family was handsomely fitted in the most quiet and comfort part of ship

In Gibraltar

Port. Regiments 13, 26, 44, 55 invited K. for dinner. He declined until every member of his party received a similar invitation, only then would accept.

"M" takes on board the widow of Capt. A. B. Burlingame of the "Allixia", whose husband perished in the sea Oct. 13 (He was from Centreville, Mass.)
