

Kossuth and Marx

K. to the Amer. people (through W. L. G.)

Prousa 1850 March 27

"My countrymen were not influenced by the theories of Communists or Socialists, nor were they what the Conservatives call anarchists--"

A people so worthy of freedom were generous enough to leave something to time, and to be satisfied with a progressive development--"

K. at the meeting of the working classes, London Nov 1 - 1851
(Monday)

K. emphatically denied that H.
was imbued with socialist notions or theoretical speculations ab. properly at (See London News, Nov. 8 - 1851, P. 570 col 2)

Same, Col 3 - (Nov 3, Wed 1851, London, Society of the Friends of Italy)
" K. then emphatically disclaimed
the doctrines of Socialism & Communism, neither of which did he understand, for he could get from two professors a precise definition..

(Socialism: "the term defies definition" The Columbia encyclopedia 1st Ed 1935, P. 1649) In the 2nd edit. this sentence is missing
& a definition is given)