

Welcome to K

(For the New Haven Palladium, 1851 Dec. 10 71)

By P. M. H.

d for thy coming
across the dark sea,
A warm welcome to find
In "the land of free"

Though malice revile thee,
And envy with sneer,
Yet American freemen
Will welcome you here.

Thy thoughts and thy speech,
Thou' much they have done
Though thy aim is thy country,
And the rights of the slave;

But thy aims have been thwarted
By the Russian hordes,
Still thy counsils, as heroes
And trusty guard swords.

They are waiting thy word
To sound freedom's loud peal,
When tyrants must fall
Under Hungarian steel.

Oh K! great champion
The defender of right!
The patriot of H!
And liberty is light!

We pray that thou safely
Mightst cross the blue wave,
"To the land of the free,
And the home of the brave."
